Beach Volleyball National Player Handbook

January 2024

Beach Volleyball National Team Communication Policy

1. This handbook provides you with policy, guidelines and general information that are relevant to you as a member of an England National Beach Volleyball Team. It should be the first stop for any questions relating to team management and policies.

2. The information contained in this handbook remains reasonably consistent from year to year. VE will issue an updated handbook to team members at the start of each year. Major updates in policy or position during that time will be provided via the VE website with notification via email. If you cannot find the information that you are searching for in the handbook, please contact talent@volleyballengland.org.

National Player Selection

4. To be eligible to represent England at Beach Volleyball you must have been through the Volleyball England Selection Process. The England Beach Volleyball National Team Selection Policy can be found [here].

National Player Registration

5. All International players must be a registered member of Volleyball England on VolleyZone (England National Beach Player). This registration is free and covers the players for international beach volleyball only (if you are an NVL Player, you must still purchase an NVL Registration). Membership registration must be completed annually. [Membership Terms can be found here].

6. All players must have a FIVB VIS Account – Please email [talent@volleyballengland.org] to register for an account.

7. All players must complete the mandatory FIVB/CEV administration. Players need to renew these documents each year. The beach season runs from 1 January 2023 to 31
December 2023 which is when most of these documents will expire. Please see table 1 below. There are additional responsibilities that players need to be aware of, particularly when competing on the World Pro Tour, please see table 2.

Code of Conduct

8. All players must adhere to the Volleyball England Code of Conduct. This can be found on our website: VE Code of Conduct

Volleyball England High-Performance Behaviours

9. All players should endeavor to follow the High-Performance behaviours below in their everyday activities:

9.1. Be ethical – Respect others and do the right thing.
9.2. Expectation of excellence – Determine personal motivations, appreciate history and being the best you can be.
9.3. Connected purpose and belonging - Work with others to achieve common goals.
9.4. Encourage and take responsibility – Players are encouraged to be accountable, giving them a sense of ownership for the creation of team culture and goals.
9.5. Being better - Getting better every day - being a better person.
9.6. Flexible and evolving mindset - Adjusting behavior and thinking to best fit the needs of each situation.
9.7. Capitalise on key turning points - Learning from the past successes, mistakes, and failures.

Social Media Guidelines

10. Profiles - As a general principle, it is strongly recommended that the Players/Teams, have a webpage/profile which is used for their volleyball involvement and that they keep their personal identity, pages and profile separate. This will help in distinguishing between what is part of a person’s private life, and what is part of their life in Volleyball. Whilst there will always be grey lines between the two, having separate online identities should assist in focusing the mind on what is and what is not appropriate content and usage, before anything is posted.

11. Minimising Risk - Always work on the basis that what you post on social media is “out there” and there’s no way of getting it back. No matter how hard you tighten up your privacy online, if one other person can see what you have posted it’s potentially available to everyone. This goes for your personal and sporting profiles. So, a simple rule to follow is, if you don’t want your parents/grandparent/coach to see it, DON’T POST IT! If you stick to that rule, you minimise the risk of controversy.

12. Expanding your network - Choose platforms that you can access easily through all your devices and make sure you regularly update them. With so many platforms out there, your choices are numerous. Make sure that you respond to messages either with a like or a response. The bigger your sporting social network is, the more attractive you are to potential sponsors.

13. Sharing engaging content - So what do you post? - There’s no one-size-fits-all solution but a good starting point would be to think about what you would like to see on the social media channels of someone you admire (e.g. a film star, sports star or anyone else in the public eye). Generally, your posts should fall into some or all of the following categories:

13.1. Training/competition – for example, where you are and what you are doing. Try to involve teammates or rivals.
13.2. Travel – you’ll be doing lots I’m sure, and while it can be mundane, you can turn it into something fun. For example, take a picture of yourself at the check-in desk in your team tracksuit with your passport and tell everyone where your next flight is going to and what you’ll be watching on your tablet.
13.3. Food – this is an easy one. You can post a picture of you eating your guilty pleasure, your favorite snack, or your pre-event/post-event meal.
13.4. Home comforts – this brings out your personality big-time. You can post photos of you with your pet, saying how good it is to be back home with them, or perhaps you have a favorite hang-out at home that you like to visit.

13.5. Thanking your supporters – whether it’s your parents, your governing body, your sponsors or even your followers.

13.6. Sharing content that you like – a retweet or share goes a long way to building your network. Make sure you are following your team-mates, players from other sports, your rivals, and National and International Federations. You never know, you might learn something along the way to make you a better player or person.

14. Social media should be used in a fun and engaging way, but it’s now a must-have for all players with aspirations of international success. There are very few people who have the means to fund themselves through a full international career. Potential sponsors will look at your online presence as part of their evaluation of your worth. That makes allocating some time each week – or even each day – to your sporting profiles so important.
Online Behaviours

15. The code of conduct states the expected behavioural standards, this includes behaviour on social media. Here are some specific dos and don’ts to consider before posting on social media:

15.1. Pause and think about what you are saying and the impact it might have.
15.2. Be careful, respectful, and positive. You are personally responsible for what you post. If in doubt, don’t post it.
15.3. Think about your image – ‘what do I want people to think about me?’
15.4. Consider who you are interacting with - you will likely come into contact online with under 18s. Familiarise yourself with safeguarding regulations in relation to engaging with under 18s.
15.5. Respect confidentiality within the team e.g. tactics, squad information, announcements.
15.6. Remember many different audiences will see your posts including Volleyball England members, potential members, children, member’s relatives, and friends.
15.7. Be smart about protecting yourself, your privacy, and confidential information. What you publish is widely accessible and will be around for a long time, so consider the content carefully and your privacy settings.
15.8. Don’t post content that discriminates against individuals or groups on the basis of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation.
15.9. Don’t write anything on social media channels that you wouldn’t feel comfortable seeing in a newspaper or hearing on TV. Everything you write is treated as a direct quote i.e. ‘Don’t tweet what you wouldn’t say to your mum/gran’ or ‘Think before you tweet’ or ‘Would I say this face to face with someone?'
15.10. Don’t speak negatively about other players, coaches, officials or governing bodies. Never use slurs, personal insults or obscenity. Be professional and respectful.
15.11. Be in the right state of mind when you make a post. Don't post when you're angry, upset, or your judgement is impaired in any way. Be very careful what you say, do and post because once it's on a social media channel, it can go viral very quickly.
15.12. Don’t engage in on-line disputes and don’t allow family or friends to argue on your behalf.
